1. The following instructions are given to the various cells of the Communist Party of Chile (PCCh) by the Regional Committee of Santiago:
 - a. No Communist must admit himself to be such.
 - b. In propagating the Party line, militants must avoid identifying it directly as the line of the Communist Party.
 - c. All Party functions will be held in the name of the Frente Nacional Democratico (FND).
 - d. Early every Saturday, militants must buy the newspaper El Pueblo in order to find the latest instructions concerning meetings. Under present circumstances, every effort will be made to inform members of the meeting places, but only a few hours in advance.
 - e. All kinds of provocations must be avoided. Communists must not answer any individuals in the street who make slurring remarks about the Communist Party, and they must not join in acts of sabotage, participate in illegal strikes or other acts which might lead to violent repressive measures.
 - f. Violation of any of these instructions must be reported to the cell leader.
2. In the operational plans of the PCCh, the work of the street cells, which are grouped according to residence of the members, is divided into two types. The first consists of study and preparation and the second involves immediate concrete tasks to be developed.
3. The work schedule of the week beginning 24 January 1949 has been furnished by sources as typical of a regular week.
 - a. Theory: Study of the Chinese Civil War as the second world-wide event since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. Each cell must study the experiences of the Civil War, the manner in which the Communist army has prepared soldiers and revolutionaries, and the application of Marxism and Leninism to this situation. The person in charge of preparation of each cell must make a speech and the members of the cell must participate in a full discussion.

- b. Immediate work: In the political field, the cells have received instructions from their local committees to fraternize with the militants of the parties of the FIAS, and not to provoke quarrels with members of the Agrarian-Labor Party, no matter what the official attitude of the parties may be. Along with this fraternization with the militants of the FIAS, fraternization with members of the Radical Party will be promoted in an effort to attract them to the political line of the Frente Nacional Democratico.
- c. Meetings: As a general order all the militants must appear at each of the meetings organized by the FND. Attendance at these mass meetings is obligatory. Each cell chief must note those militants who do not appear, and they must present their excuse before the cell the following week. If the reason given is not justified in the judgment of the cell, the case of the militant will be handed over to the Disciplinary Tribunal.
- 4. Cells formed among business enterprises have a different character from that of the regular street cells. Their tasks are concerned with union matters and planning projects.
